Seeking Apprenticeship

My name is Connor Cox, I am 20 years old and in the 3rd year of my apprenticeship.

Unfortunately, I have been made redundant from my previous ATF due to my employer having personal issues and being no longer able to carry on training me. I wish to complete my apprenticeship and I'm willing to relocate to any part of the country.

I can remove shoes, clench, trim and nail. My fitting is ok although it does need more practice to get a first time fit. I have a full set of shoeing and shoemaking tools as well as a forge at home for extra practice.

I have a clean driving license and my own car. I have a background in horses through my family and am comfortable and safe around them. I am physically fit with no health issues and do not smoke or vape. I think I am easy to get on with and reasonable company in the van.

I enjoy the theory and I am above standard in this area, I would admit this is my stronger field. I would class myself as not a natural shoemaker but have worked hard to improve my shoes including competing at numerous shows last summer and spending extra time at college in my own time receiving extra tuition.

I am punctual, self-disciplined and critical of my own work, and I'm happy to take constructive feedback and integrate this into my work. I understand the demands of the Farriery industry and the long hours and dedication it requires. I am prepared to work hard and make continuous improvement in all areas.

I attend Myerscough College and my next block would be block 6 in January, but I am willing to discuss this with any prospective employer. I am up to date with all college requirements on the online portfolio (Onefile) and have logged all my off-the-job hours up until I was made redundant.

I hope this gives a rounded overview of me as a person, and hope to receive your correspondence, via email or telephone call.

Yours sincerely
Connor Cox
